

Houston's Perry's Steakhouse will sell its famous pork chop for 79 cents, but only for a few people

By Octavia Johnson, Staff writer April 23, 2025

Perry's Steakhouse plans to sell its classic pork chop lunch for 79 cents soon.

The date of the one-day event has yet to be announced, but will offer the first 100 dine-in guests the meal that includes a pork chop, whipped potatoes and applesauce at all locations, the company said in a Facebook post.

People who want to take advantage of the offer should be ready early, because all locations will start offering the discounted price at 10:30 a.m. This is dine-in only and those older than 21 years old.

"It's our way of saying THANK YOU, for being part of our story," according to the Facebook post.

